

Wisconsin Ethics Commission

Statements of Economic Interest

Officials Required to File

Of the approximately 2,500 state officials subject to the Ethics Code's standards of conduct, about 2,100 officials -- those holding salaried positions and those whose appointments require the Senate's consent* -- file Statements of Economic Interests. Candidates and nominees for state public offices also file Statements of Economic Interests. Statements are open to public inspection.

Exceptions: Bradley Center and Professional Baseball Park Board Members do not file.*

The occupants of the following positions file Statements of Economic Interests with the Wisconsin Ethics Commission:
